Article

For the second consecutive year, Veeam has been recognised as a Leader by Gartner Inc. in the 2017 Magic Quadrant for Data Center Backup & Recovery Solutions. This follows three consecutive years of recognition as a 'Visionary' business within the industry. According to the report "Veeam offers rich functionality and many simple recovery options for the VMware and Hyper-V environment. Veeam continues to stand out with numerous agentless VM recovery options and unique functions to overcome hypervisor-native limitations. For the last several years, Veeam has been — and continues to be — one of the fastest-growing companies in the backup industry." With over 250,000 customers, Veeam is now the 4th largest Enterprise Backup and Recovery Software vendor. "We believe that our Leadership position further proves that legacy backup vendors are losing relevance and appeal in this digital transformation era," said Peter McKay, Co-CEO and President of Veeam. "We believe our upward movement to the right is the biggest advancement in both Vision and Ability to Execute, outpacing our competitors and feel it's validation of our efforts as we drive ahead as a leader in Availability solutions for the enterprise with multi-cloud and hybrid cloud environments." As the first Veeam Cloud and Service Provider Platinum Partner in Victoria, Australia, blueAPACHE is delighted with this news.

“We leverage Veeam to deploy on premises and cloud-based Backup as a Service solution to help our customers become a true always-on business”, said Andrew Harris, General Manager of Sales at blueAPACHE. This recognition by Gartner is a testament to Veeam’s ability to deliver reliable, scalable backup and recovery solutions.” To learn more about Veeam’s Cloud Connect and backup and recovery solutions, contact the blueAPACHE Account team .
